Beyond the Go Bag: What Most People Miss in an RSID Event

Presenter(s):

- Sean Campbell - Attorney and Board Member of NAAGA

Course Description:

Practical Preparedness for When Resources Are Scarce and the Infrastructure Is Down. Having a go-bag is a start. Knowing how to use it—and having a realistic plan when normal systems fail—is what truly matters. In an RSID (Resources Are Scarce and the Infrastructure Is Down) event, small details can have major consequences. The equipment you choose, the skills you develop, the decisions you make, and the people you can rely on may determine how effectively you protect yourself, your family, and your community. In this practical session, Sean Campbell will share preparedness principles, gear considerations, and real-world strategies designed for everyday citizens—not military personnel. Through demonstrations and lessons learned, attendees will learn how to identify vulnerabilities, improve readiness, build resilient networks, and make better decisions before a crisis occurs. Participants will leave with actionable preparedness concepts they can immediately implement at home, within their local chapters, and throughout their communities.

RANGE TRAINING BLOCKS ADDENDUM

Red Dot Reckoning

Presenter(s): Kyle Thompson

Equipment:

- 150 Rounds
- A reliable firearm (no Sig P320 variants)
- Quality Holster (Kydex or duty grade; no Serpa allowed)
- 3 magazines (minimum)
- 2 magazine pouches (minimum)
- Sturdy belt (duty or concealed carry)
- Eye and Ear Protection
- Permanent Marker & small notebook, range and weather-appropriate clothing

Course Description:

Red Dot Reckoning is a performance-driven pistol course designed to give shooters a deeper understanding of how to maximize efficiency, precision, and consistency with a pistol-mounted optic. This program emphasizes measurable performance standards and real-world application, equipping students to run their pistol with confidence under pressure.

Students will refine their draw stroke and presentation, learning how to drive the dot into their visual plane with speed and repeatability. The course also incorporates concepts to strengthen target focus, visual indexing, and dot acquisition when the optic is compromised or partially obstructed.

By the end of the course, shooters will walk away with a clearer visual strategy, improved consistency, and a performance-based framework for continued growth beyond the class.

Building a Solid Foundation

Presenter(s): Darrell Edwards

Equipment:

- 100 rounds
- Personally owned handgun (no Sig P320 variants)

NAAGA 2026 Empowerment Summit Training Schedule

- 2 magazines (minimum)
- Eye and Ear Protection
- Permanent Marker & small notebook, range and weather-appropriate clothing

Course Description:

This Basic Pistol Class is designed for new and beginning shooters who want to learn the safe and responsible use of a handgun. This course provides students with a comprehensive introduction to pistol safety, operation, and marksmanship fundamentals in a supportive and hands-on environment.

Participants will learn the essential rules of firearm safety, safe loading and unloading procedures, proper grip, stance, sight alignment, and trigger control. Students will also receive instruction on range safety, shooting etiquette, and basic defensive awareness.

This course is ideal for first-time gun owners, individuals considering firearm ownership, and anyone seeking to improve their understanding of handgun safety and basic shooting skills.

Defensive Marksmanship Pistol

Presenter(s): Andre Sidney

Equipment:

- 200 Rounds
- A reliable firearm (concealed carry preferred; open carry accepted; (no Sig P320 variants))
- Quality Holster (Kydex or duty grade; no Serpa or soft shell (including belly bands) allowed.
- 3 magazines (minimum)
- 2 magazine pouches (minimum)
- Sturdy Belt duty or (concealed carry)
- Eye and Ear Protection
- Individual First Aid Kit (IFAK)
- Range and weather-appropriate clothing
- Brimmed cap (optional)
- Water source
- Positive and open-minded mentality.

NAAGA 2026 Empowerment Summit Training Schedule

Course Description:

Defensive Marksmanship Pistol is an intermediate-level course designed to bridge the gap between basic marksmanship and defensive firearm application. This course focuses on developing safe, efficient, and consistent holster skills, including proper drawing and re-holstering techniques, while reinforcing the core fundamentals of pistol shooting such as grip, stance, sight alignment, sight picture, trigger control, follow-through, and recoil management.

Students will apply these fundamentals under increasing levels of pressure through a series of structured and timed drills designed to improve speed, accuracy, decision-making, and overall firearm proficiency. Emphasis is placed on building confidence, consistency, and efficiency while maintaining strict adherence to firearm safety principles.

Depending on class progression and available time, students may also receive a high-level overview of self-defense law, including key considerations related to the use of force, reasonable belief, and the responsibilities that accompany defensive firearm ownership.

This course may include movement, positional shooting, and other practical exercises that require a low to moderate level of physical activity. Students should be prepared to actively participate throughout the training and safely handle their firearm from the holster.

Stop the Bleed: Until Help Arrives

Presenter(s): Larry Brown Jr. / Stephen Alexander

Equipment:

- N/A
- No background required. No prior experience necessary.

Course Description:

When severe bleeding occurs, the clock starts immediately.

A person can bleed to death in as little as 3–5 minutes, while the average ambulance response takes significantly longer. Those critical minutes often determine whether a loved one lives or dies.

NAAGA 2026 Empowerment Summit Training Schedule

Most life-threatening bleeding injuries don't happen on a battlefield or at a shooting range. They happen during everyday life:

- A child falls through a glass door.
- A family member is involved in a serious car accident.
- A loved one suffers a chainsaw or power tool injury.
- A hunting or outdoor accident occurs miles from immediate medical care.
- A kitchen or home improvement project goes terribly wrong.
- A natural disaster leaves emergency services overwhelmed.

And sometimes, the emergency isn't your own. It may be a car crash you witness on your commute, an injury at the park, a workplace accident, or a stranger in your community who desperately needs help before first responders arrive.

In this hands-on Stop the Bleed course, you'll learn how to recognize life-threatening bleeding, apply direct pressure, pack wounds, and properly use a tourniquet to keep someone alive until professional help arrives.

You don't need medical experience. You simply need the knowledge and confidence to act when every second matters.

The life you save is far more likely to be someone you love than a stranger—but you may be called upon to save both.

When the Grid Goes Down: Communications for the Prepared Citizen

Presenter(s): Yusef Abd Al-Rahman

<https://www.youtube.com/@MetroAtlantaHamRadio334>

Equipment:

- N/A
- No technical background required. No prior radio experience necessary.

Course Description:

When disaster strikes, communication becomes one of the most valuable resources you can have.

Whether it's a severe storm, widespread power outage, overloaded cellular networks, or a community emergency, amateur radio operators have the ability to stay connected when others cannot.

NAAGA 2026 Empowerment Summit Training Schedule

In this engaging and interactive session, Yusef Abd Al-Rahman (K4KHO) will introduce attendees to the world of amateur radio through real-world examples and live demonstrations. You'll see how ordinary citizens communicate across neighborhoods, states, and even around the globe using skills and equipment available to anyone willing to learn.

You'll discover:

- Why communication is one of the most overlooked preparedness skills
- How amateur radio works when traditional systems fail
- The role radio operators play during emergencies and disasters
- How is local, regional, and worldwide communication possible
- What equipment beginners actually need
- What it takes to earn your amateur radio license
- How members of NAAGA's NAAGA Communications Readiness Initiative (NCRI)—affectionately known as the Black Hammies—are building communications networks and preparedness capabilities across the country

Live demonstrations included.

Come see why thousands of Americans continue to rely on amateur radio when reliability matters most and discover why communication is a critical component of personal preparedness, family readiness, and community resilience.

Self-defense does not end with firearms. When the grid goes down, communication may be the most important tool you possess.

Drills to Proficiency

Presenter(s): Rick Archer

Equipment:

- 200 Rounds
- A reliable firearm (concealed carry preferred; open carry accepted)
- Quality Holster recommended (Kydex or duty grade; no Serpa or soft shell (including belly bands) allowed.
- 2 magazines
- 2 magazine pouches (minimum)
- Sturdy Belt duty or (concealed carry)
- Eye and Ear Protection
- Permanent Marker & small notebook, range and weather-appropriate clothing

NAAGA 2026 Empowerment Summit Training Schedule

Course Description:

This course is designed to provide shooters with dry-fire and live-fire drills you can do at home or at the range to build skills that improve performance, proficiency, and confidence. These drills are intended to reinforce basic fundamentals and create habits that will create consistency throughout the shot-making process.

Introduction To Competition Shooting

Presenter(s): Will Robinson

Equipment:

- 150 Rounds
- A reliable firearm (no Sig P320 variants) - Your EDC will work fine if you don't have a dedicated competition pistol/PCC
- Quality Holster - must completely cover the trigger guard (no Serpa or similar style holsters)
- 2 magazines
- 1 magazine pouch (minimum)
- Concealed carry or duty/competition belt
- Eye and Ear Protection
- Note-taking supplies along with range and weather-appropriate clothing

Course Description:

Introduction to Competition Shooting covers the different competitive sports, their scoring systems, classifications along with range commands, scoring methods, and registration processes.

Students will learn various techniques that high-level competition shooters use to get the highest scores possible. This includes vision, movement, and the importance of stage planning. While this is a competition-focused class, the vast majority of the shooting skills covered also translate to real-world scenarios.

Upon completion of the course, students will understand how to register and prepare for a competition and then use the post-match data to help shape their practice sessions going forward.
